Plead Guilty To Stealing Gasoline

Alfred Alboug, 19, and Elmer Ludwig, 20, both of Edmore, were arrested Sunday by Sheriff Frank Bennett charged with the robbing of auto gasoline tanks. They were arraigned in Justice Petersen's court Monday and entered pleas of guilty.

Sheriff Bennett says that he had these young men under observation for some time, feeling certain that they were stealing gas but was unable to prove it. Last Saturday night he watched the two men as they siphoned gas from cars parked near Spike's Beer Garden. As they were about to leave he started for them but they threw the cans of gasoline onto him, tripping him up, and started to run. Sheriff Bennett followed but was unable to catch them. He ordered them to halt and one of them stopped for an instant but soon was off again.

They were wearing rubber gloves to cover any possible chance for finger prints—evidently they were not novices at the game. The following day the men came to town and were at once arrested. They at first denied that they were the ones the Sheriff wanted but that didn't go with him. By the next morning after they decided that the sheriff wasn't fooling, they decided to acknowledge their guilt and accept their punishment. They were sentenced to pay fines of $25 each and court costs, and in default of payment, serve 60 days each in the county jail. Fines and costs were paid amounting to $44 each.

Alboug and Ludwig were just completing a term of enlistment in one of the nearby CCC camps.

WHY A COMMUNITY NEWS PAPER?

Contest sponsored by Adrian Van Koeving of Zeeland, Michigan.

(By L. O. KLAY, R. 2, Carsonville, Mich.—Favorable Mention).

Why a community newspaper? Why have an automobile or a telephone? Primarily because they are business assets and in this age almost necessities. One could live and get along without them but you can live more fully and get along better if you have them. So it is with a community newspaper.

It is a good thing to be world-minded and to see things in the large, as it were. But it is also a good thing to see things close to you—the little things of everyday life that help make your home and your community what they are and that in turn help your country and the world at large what they are. A community newspaper helps you to see life as it is close around you. A daily paper may quote you on the events of more places, but they are further removed and do not affect you as often or as closely as the events nearer home. A daily paper may quote you the market prices of various commodities but they are the prices of the large trade centers and you are usually not as interested in them as you are in the price of eggs, butter, cream or potatoes in the markets of the nearby towns. A daily paper may bring advertisements of sales and bargains in places where you seldom buy, whereas your community paper keeps you informed of sales and bargains in places near you that you can take advantage of.

The long lists of people seeking jobs that you find in the daily papers means very little to the person living in suburban or county communities when they are in need of help; but an ad in your county weekly may bring quick and pleasing results. In these days of unstable economic conditions especially are people coming to depend more and more on a system of barter and exchange. What medium is more handy or brings quicker results than the community newspaper for letting your immediate neighbors know them of your labor or articles that you have for sale or exchange.

These are matters of business and prove that a community paper is an almost indispensable business asset either for farmers or small town dwellers.

How about the civic and social side of life which even in times of hard pressing economic depression we can not afford to neglect? The community paper binds together the lives of people in any given locality in a way which no other medium can do. It tends to arouse and keep up a neighborly interest in those around us, and in the affairs of the community in which we live. Projects of civic improvements are advocated and discussed. The paper should serve as an open forum where the fundamentals of democracy can be preserved. Through it we should have a more intelligent citizenry especially affecting the choice of lawmakers and other governing bodies in our own local institutions. This should in turn influence the political machinery of the state and country.

Through the community paper we are kept aware also to the events of social importance concerning the lives of those around us. This not only leads to understanding sympathy and kindly interest but gives the opportunity to express the same, if we wish, in ways that make life more worthwhile, or tend to "promote the general welfare." The world needs neighborliness and the community newspaper helps to create and foster that much needed quality.

People hold on to their cars and to their telephones as long as they are financially able to do so because they realize their value as an aid to more and better business. Loyal support of the little community paper by subscription, by using it as a medium for your own advertising, and by making use of the advertisements and other articles found in it will do much to build up your own community. Doing this would also do much to restore economic stability and keep the foundations of our civic and social life intact.

Public approval is what counts these days.

Citizens Provide Hose and Sprinklers

Our city park system is now well equipped with hose and sprinklers, thanks to some of our citizens who provided the money for purchasing them. There is 250 feet of hose and 12 late model sprinklers and all are being kept busy.

The new park lots have been nicely seeded to good lawn seed and it is beginning to come out. What up to this week was nicely leveled but barren land will, in a few days, be a bright carpet of green grass. A number of our citizens are taking enough interest in the sprinkling to take time to change the sprinklers frequently.

Those who assisted in paying for the equipment are as follows: Emil Kraus, N. Schlotz, Geo. Burke, A. J. Joseph, J. E. Bugby, Matt Bidvia, Fred R. Welsh, Mrs. Eva Reagan, Mrs. Cassidy, Carl Sorenson.

See 4 Benefits In County Reform

The Michigan County Reorganization Committee says:

Four major benefits are expected to come from the proposed constitutional amendment providing for the reorganization of county government in Michigan, according to Clarence V. Smauel, state organizer for the committee sponsoring the amendment.

The expected results, Mr. Smauel said, have been outlined by students of government who know what has been achieved in other states through the modernization of county government and what has been achieved by modern organization in city government as compared with types of city government in existence a half century or more ago. These four major benefits are:

1. By consolidation and elimination of offices, it will reduce the average cost of county government in the state a minimum of 20 per cent, while improving its services.
2. Even if a new plan of county government is not adopted by any county under the amendment, the fact that neighboring counties have adopted or are considering such a plan will force all counties to conduct their government in a more practical and progressive manner.
3. The improvement of the personnel of county government will bring immediate results in improving the personnel of state and federal governments, because the county is the political unit from which most officers and employees of higher governmental units are selected.
4. The county is the basic unit of government; heretofore it has been the most backward, retarding the progress of all other units. Under this amendment it will be subject to complete modernization. Thus, improvement of county government will indicate other and further possibilities for improvement in local government and not only the county itself, but smaller and larger units as well will progress.

FOUND FLOATING IN HER POMPEIIAN BATH

How a puzzling Paris murder mystery was solved by the victim's own clever precaution, is the theme of an article in The American Weekly with next Sunday's Detroit Times.

Every husband wonders what his wife does with all the money he brings home, and every wife wonders why her husband isn't able to bring home more money.

An Economy (?) Suggestion

FORMER LOVELLS GIRL PASSED AWAY IN DETROIT

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stillwagon of Lovells has been saddened by the death of their eldest daughter, Mrs. John W. Halberg, age 31 years, who was formerly Miss Martha. The young woman passed away at Pingree hospital in Detroit on May 13 and the remains were taken to West Branch, her birthplace for burial.

Although her parents resided in Lovells and she was there much of the time her early education was received in West Branch, where she made her home while there with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Husted. She was graduated from the West Branch High School in 1921, and also while there became a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. After finishing High School she entered Olivet college and graduated from there in 1924. She taught school for four years, two years of which she was principal of Roscommon school and in 1927 became the bride of Mr. Halberg, whose home was in Lewiston. Shortly after their marriage they left for Detroit, where Mr. Halberg was employed on the police force and where they had since resided.

Surviving besides the husband and parents are a little two year old daughter Ruth Diana, and one sister Mrs. Ruth Caid and two brothers James and Lewis Stillwagon of Lovells.

The passing of the young woman, who was so well known and loved by all who knew her in Crawford and Roscommon counties is regretted by her many friends.

I get quite a kick out of the way the boys seem to be resigned to their fate these days.

There was a time when a fellow out of a job did a lot of tall hustling—he actually acted ashamed and would hardly tell his friends about his situation.

The WHISKEY BANK

(Michigan banks used as depositories for liquors.—News Item.)

Scene 1. A street near the bank.

First Citizen—"Heard about the bank?"

Second Citizen—"No; what?"

First Citizen—"There's a run on it!"

Second Citizen—"Good heavens! Every drop of liquor I have in the world is in it. How about you?"

First Citizen—"I drew out some last week, but they've still got two or three cases of mine."

Second Citizen (indignantly)—"The crooks! A man works and slaves all his life to put away a little liquor and then they rob him of it. Let's go down and see what's doing."

Scene 2.

In front of the bank.

Bank official (trying to pacify the crowd)—"I urge you to be calm. Don't lose your heads! I assure you this bank is absolutely liquid."

First Citizen—"H! say it is!"

Bank Official—"Every quart you deposited with this institution is as good as gold."

Second Citizen—"Just about!"

Bank Official—"I tell you this bank is as strong as any institution in the city. It is 100 proof!"

(The crowd mutters angrily. Suddenly a prominent citizen fights his way through it and mounts the steps to make a speech.)

Newcomer—"My friends, to show you that I have perfect confidence in this bank I am putting in ten cases of prewar Scotch! And just as soon as I can arrange it, I am going to put in a barrel of brandy! That's what I think of this institution!"

(There is a little applause from the crowd.)

Bank Official—"Thank you, Mr. Muggleberry. Now, ladies and gentlemen, I also want to have you know that the bank examiner is here. He has been looking over our deposits. He has been in our vaults all morning and I want you to hear a word from him."

(The bank examiner suddenly comes out of the doorway.)

Bank Official—"Mr. Bank Examiner, say a word to these people."

(The examiner stares at the mob.)

Bank Official—"Speak to them!"

Voices—"Say something! Say something!"

Bank Official—"Go ahead and say something, please!"

The Bank Examiner (with a great effort)—"Whoops!"

What Other Editors Have To Say

USELESS OFFICES

A township, in the eyes of the law, is a rural town. Though it may lie in the open farming country, and contain no community center at all, it must have a supervisor, clerk, treasurer, commissioner of highways, overseers for the poor, justices of the peace, constables, school board members, game warden and a fire warden. A village of considerable size does have a more complete set of officials, except that a village has a postmaster.

Sheridan Township in Gladwin County has 13 residents. Backus Township in Roscommon County has 15, Blue Lake in Kalkaska County has 20 men, women and children living within its borders. Thirty-nine townships in Michigan have fewer than 100 inhabitants, 103 have fewer than 200 inhabitants, and 881 of the 1,271 townships in the State have fewer than 1,000 residents each. One thousand residents, it is estimated, is about the minimum number to need the services of 14 local officials. Sixty-three per cent of the townships in Michigan, then, support more persons on the public payroll than their needs require.

Townships are only one of the antiquated forms of local government left over from the days before telephones, good roads, and daily mail service made communication easy and universal. They are extravagant because the money spent to maintain useless functions could be saved or put to better purpose. Similar multiplicity of government afflicts the suburban areas of the State. Unified and simplified health, police, fire, education, water, sewage and other services will have to replace the hodge-podge of local organizations which now exist around the borders of the cities, if efficient and economical government is to come.

A petition is being circulated calling for a vote next fall on a proposal to amend the State Constitution to permit individual counties to carry on this kind of reorganization, if they desire. It should be signed.—Free Press, Detroit.

LITERARY DIGEST POLL UNFAIR TEST

The Literary Digest is gathering another straw vote. This time the question is, "Do you approve of the whole acts and policies of Roosevelt's first year?"

A lot of editorial opinion is being passed out on the plan and no little criticism about the formation of the question. Tom Conlin, editor of the Crystal Ball Diamond Drill, wrote the Literary Digest as follows:

"Gentlemen: I am returning you the ballot not mailed me unvoted. The question is not a fair one to ask anyone and the result of your canvass will mean nothing. You require a voter to vote the ballot up or down; there is no half way, no reservations."

"I don't think a man can honestly vote his convictions on that ballot. Some of President Roosevelt's activities I approve of, some I do not. It's not fair to vote 'No' on all, neither is it fair to vote 'Yes.'"

"Your straw vote might have been so conducted as to be of benefit to the President and in formative of the real feelings of the people; as it is the thing deteriorates into a mere balldash."

The general sentiment sounded by the daily press as well as by weekly publishers is quite of the same tone as that by Mr. Conlin. And we believe that when the canvass is compiled that the country will still have no definite, concrete knowledge of the sentiment of the people as to the facts that are fundamentally desired.

CURBING PEDDLERS

Royal Oak merchants have hit on a clever idea of making the sales tax do something for them as well as the state. They have induced the city commission to adopt an ordinance compelling each peddler and solicitor to display a retail license secured from the sales tax board before he is permitted to sell or take orders for goods within the city.

Not only does the plan prevent peddlers from evading the tax but it prevents also the irresponsible solicitor from passing about taking orders without his identity being known. The Royal Oak ordinance imposes a heavy penalty for peddling or soliciting without a license and makes the possession of a state license the first condition for granting a city license.—Ingham County News, Mason.

I see where the state of Pennsylvania, which has a set-up for handling liquor something like that in Michigan, has decided that the prices of liquor must come down if the bootlegger is to be eliminated. Last week the liquor board of that state announced that state stores will sell 12 ounce bottles of blended whiskey for 55 cents. A new price list, including American types of Scotch whiskey at $2.00 and $1.75 a fifth gallon went into effect also. This liquor is a blend of 20 percent imported Scotch and American distillates.—Crystal Falls Diamond Drill.

WHAT IS A LIBERAL?

What is a liberal? We used to suppose a liberal was a person who believed in free speech, a free press, the sanctity of personal liberty, down with monopolies and such.

But we understand the brain trust regards all these things as trifling or even reactionary. The modern liberal is devoted to telling farmers and business men how they must conduct their affairs, the price to be charged for pressing pants, and with deciding that professional baseball is a social waste and telling people they must go to lectures instead. We are all confused and upset at the bone in our head that prevents these new ideals from penetrating to the brain.—Kansas City Star.

But this is not true these days—the old sodabusters who spit a couple times on their hands and took an extra grip on the plow handle when things went wrong, were about fifty years ahead of their time—they should have lived in this day and generation when everything is ordered that good for the soul—all you've got to do is to stand in line and grab your share when the platter is being passed around.

As an example, I recall the good old days of the county conventions when real characters came to the county seat from every province in the shire, they got that way from the rugged individualism of their struggles with the invisible wolf that is forever sleeping on the cottage stoop, not from sitting back and waiting for a benevolent government to run corn savor on their toll worn hands, but from arising early in the morn to knock a living loose from a cold, unfeeling universe.

The new way may be the best way—but another generation and there will be no more giants in a land.—Fred Keister.

COMPLAINT about dogs being pests, is quite common in just about every city in Michigan.
Newspapers indicate that complaints are quite general and that there should be some way to take care of the dogs. Our Village council, in an effort to eliminate the nuisance of dogs running at large in Grayling, engaged a person for dog warden with authority to destroy all dogs running at large here. Apparently no action has been taken by the appointed warden, and dogs today appear to be just as numerous on our streets as ever. Dogs are dogs and are not supposed to know that they shouldn't monopolize our streets and yards; and that they shouldn't romp and tear in our gardens and destroy property; and many other objectionable habits that dogs seem to possess. And there is no good reason why the people must submit to the dog nuisance. Either we will have to tolerate this condition or drastic steps must be taken to curb it. The city of Midland seems to offer a partial solution for the trouble. A recent editorial published in the Midland Republican on the dog
question reads as follows:

"THOSE DOGGONE DOGS ARE PESTS—"

"Dogs running at large in Midland are again becoming pests and the city has moved toward the partial solution of the problem."

"There is nothing quite so distressing after having established a pretty garden of flowers and shrubs as to have it dug up by a group of stray dogs, which are allowed to run about over everyone's property with freedom. The policy henceforth is to KEEP YOUR DOG TIED OR PENNED UP."

"Nothing is better for a pet than a dog. Boys and girls in particular are fond of them. An effort will be made to restore such favorites to their owners, once they have strayed. If the owners cannot be found, the animals will be shot."

RADIO INTERFERENCE

Static due to climatic conditions
interfering with radio reception, cannot be entirely eliminated, but local interference due to improper grounding of motors and many other conditions, can and should be corrected.

Intermittent noises from your loud speaker, that seem to come desires his radio, can and should be eliminated. Whether or not these are caused by electric motors, drills, grinders, violet-ray tubes, or from other causes, we do not know. But it is most certain that the interference is due to some local condition.

Anyone having conditions in their shops, factories, homes, or other places that may possibly be the cause for these radio noises, and have not as yet already done so, they should have them tested and thus either be assured that their apparatus is not contributing to the radio interference about town, or, if there is interference, then get it corrected. If our wiring systems—electric or telephone—are causing the nuisance, they should be commanded to correct the trouble.

Radio interference can be traced, and it should be ferreted out and eliminations commanded. The radio public does not have to submit to unnecessary interference.
A little money expended to trace the trouble and the results reported to our village authorities should be all that is necessary to be done by the people. The Council has the authority to compel correction of the troubles.

WHAT! REDUCE TAXES?

Much has been said about the advisability of reducing taxes, but pointing a need and accomplishing the result seem to be vastly different. There's the case in Michigan, for instance. The Automobile Club is sponsoring a petition to reduce gasoline taxes and motor vehicle registration fees.
Taxes are preventing people from buying new machines, argues the club. Reduce the taxes, put cars on the road, revenue in the treasury, and business in the automobile factories, it advises.

The club has been obtaining signatures for its petition at gasoline filling stations, the logical places since every motorist stops for supplies sooner or later. Indications now are, according to recent reports, that more than the legally sufficient number of signatures has been obtained.

Officialdom, however, doesn't like the idea. Road commissioners have notified filling station proprietors to "pull in those petition blanks or lose government business." A recent news item from the capitol at Lansing said oil company representatives would be called to a conference with state officials and told plainly that unless the petition was withdrawn from circulation they would be prohibited from bidding for state business. The governor said he wouldn't attend, but warned that if those taxes are reduced, the taxpayers might expect substitute levies!

Shades of Washington, Jefferson, Hancock, and Adams, to say nothing of Roosevelt, past and present! What is this country coming to when elected officials tell those who elected them to office they cannot have tax reduction? What is officialdom coming to that it assumes the authority to tell business whether it shall accommodate its customers?

If the situation in Michigan is any indication, office holders are not in the mood for tax reduction.
Evidently they will insist that the taxpayers shall pay and pay and pay. And upon what then will the taxpayers insist? Well, it looks as if regardless of whatever they decide to insist upon they'd better get started or officialdom will be telling them they can't even decide to insist!

Memorial Day Nicely Observed

Yesterday, Memorial Day, survivors of America's wars turned
out under auspices of the Grayling American Legion Post No.
108 in grand style to honor the
war dead on the 66th anniversary
of the first Memorial day.

It was one of the nicest arranged programs put on in several years and to the committee,
Alfred Hanson, A. J. Nelson, Earl
Hewitt and Neil Matthews go
the credit.

The procession formed at the Legion hall at 9:30 o'clock and
came in the following order: The
colors carried by Stanley Valentine of Beaver Creek and Harry
Horton of Frederic, with Frank
Decker and Orel Levan as color
guards, in charge of Sgt. Clarence Johnson. Next Grayling band with little Teddy Bill Cody as
drum major, and followed by veterans of the Spanish-American
war. Next came a large turnout
of ex-service men of the World war in charge of Capt. Nester of Camp Higgins. Marching beside him was Lt. Shovar. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary followed and
then the Boys Bugle and Drum
corps led by Harold Edwards.
Last but not least was a large group of school children carrying
flags and this last feature made
a very pleasing sight. Frank Bond, teacher, had charge of the school children and they made a very fine showing.

The procession marched first
to the US 27 bridge and held
brief services in honor of the sailor dead, and then to Elmwood
cemetery where services were held at the mound. Rev. Fr. J. L. Cul-ligan gave the invocation and
benediction at both services and
also: Chaplain John McMillan
of the Legion read a prayer. At the mound Capt. Nester delivered a short address closing a very appropriate memorial service.

The Legion desires to thank all those who helped to make the program the success it was.

Gerald Herrick, of Flint, spent
the week-end visiting his father
Luther Herrick.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Piersol of
Ann Arbor and Mr. and Mrs.
Lathan Broadwell of Toledo, Ohio
are spending a few days at Lake
Margrethe.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wingard
and children Jerrie, Jim and Jeanne of Alma spent Sunday
visiting Mr. Wingard's mother,
Mrs. Eva Wingard and sister Mrs.
A. J. Trudeau.

Miss Jayne Keyport returned
home for the summer vacation
from Ward Belmont school for
girls located at Nashville, Tenn.,
Tuesday. She was met at Detroit
by her mother, Mrs. C. R. Key-
port, who accompanied her here.

Mrs. Andrew Peterson returned home the last of the week, having been accompanied from Detroit by her son Axel. Mrs. Peterson just returned from a trip to Denmark,
where she visited relatives. She left Grayling the forepart of December.

Small forest fires threatened the cottages at McIntyre's landing at Lake Margrethe first of the week.
They were extinguished with little
damage by CCC men and neighbors. Large fires were seen northwest of Frederic Wednesday. The woods are dry and fires start easily. Better be taking extra precautions.

What promises to be the biggest
state political rally in Michigan's history is to be held Saturday at Riverside Park in Grand Ledge
when supporters of Frank D. Fitzgerald from every county meet to pledge their continued support

rally is the outgrowth of the increasing demand from all parts of the state that Mr. Fitzgerald be nominated for governor.

The Stockholders' Auditing
Committee of Grayling State Savings Bank made their semi-annual
audit of the affairs of the bank
last Thursday. The committee is composed of Messrs T. P. Peterson, George N. Olson and Alfred
Hanson, and they closed their report to the State Banking Department with the following remarks: "We have examined the
accounts and assets of Grayling
State Savings Bank and found
them in excellent condition. Management is complimented on the efficiency on operation of the bank."

Of interest to her Grayling friends will be the announcement

Memorial Day Nicely Observed

Yesterday, Memorial Day, survivors of America's wars turned
out under auspices of the Grayling American Legion Post No.
108 in grand style to honor the
war dead on the 66th anniversary
of the first Memorial day.

It was one of the nicest ar-
ranged programs put on in several years and to the committee,
Alfred Hanson, A. J. Nelson, Earl
Hewitt and Neil Matthews go
the credit.

The procession formed at the Legion hall at 9:30 o'clock and
came in the following order: The
colors carried by Stanley Valentine of Beaver Creek and Harry
Horton of Frederic, with Frank
Decker and Orel Levan as color
guards, in charge of Sgt. Clarence
Johnson. Next Grayling band
with little Teddy Bill Cody as
drum major, and followed by
veterans of the Spanish-American
war. Next came a large turnout
of ex-service men of the World
war in charge of Capt. Nester of Camp Higgins. Marching beside
him was Lt. Shovar. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary followed and
then the Boys Bugle and Drum
corps led by Harold Edwards.
Last but not least was a large
group of school children carrying
flags and this last feature made
a very pleasing sight. Frank
Bond, teacher, had charge of the
school children and they made a
very fine showing.

The procession marched first
to the US 27 bridge and held
brief services in honor of the
sailor dead, and then to Elmwood
cemetery where services were held
at the mound. Rev. Fr. J. L. Cul-
ligan gave the invocation and
benediction at both services and
also: Chaplain John McMillan
of the Legion read a prayer. At the mound Capt. Nester delivered a
short address closing a very appropriate memorial service.

The Legion desires to thank all
those who helped to make the program the success it was.

Gerald Herrick, of Flint, spent
the week-end visiting his father
Luther Herrick.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Piersol of
Ann Arbor and Mr. and Mrs.
Lathan Broadwell of Toledo, Ohio
are spending a few days at Lake
Margrethe.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wingard
and children Jerrie, Jim and Jeanne of Alma spent Sunday
visiting Mr. Wingard's mother,
Mrs. Eva Wingard and sister Mrs.
A. J. Trudeau.

Miss Jayne Keyport returned
home for the summer vacation
from Ward Belmont school for
girls located at Nashville, Tenn.,
Tuesday. She was met at Detroit
by her mother, Mrs. C. R. Key-
port, who accompanied her here.

Mrs. Andrew Peterson returned
home the last of the week, having
been accompanied from Detroit by
her son Axel. Mrs. Peterson just
returned from a trip to Denmark,
December.

Small forest fires threatened the
cottages at McIntyre's landing at
Lake Margrethe first of the week.
They were extinguished with little
damage by CCC men and neighbors. Large fires were seen northwest of Frederic Wednesday. The
woods are dry and fires start easily. Better be taking extra precautions.

What promises to be the biggest
state political rally in Michigan's
history is to be held Saturday at Riverside Park in Grand Ledge
when supporters of Frank D. Fitzgerald from every county meet to
pledge their continued support during the primary campaign. The rally is the outgrowth of the increasing demand from all parts of
the state that Mr. Fitzgerald be
nominated for governor.

The Stockholders' Auditing
Committee of Grayling State Savings Bank made their semi-annual
audit of the affairs of the bank
last Thursday. The committee is composed of Messrs T. P. Peter-
son, George N. Olson and Alfred
Hanson, and they closed their report to the State Banking Department with the following remarks: "We have examined the
accounts and assets of Grayling
State Savings Bank and found
them in excellent condition. Management is complimented on the
efficiency on operation of the
bank."

BEAVER CRICK

(By Mrs. Etta Nowlin)

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dyer called on friends in this vicinity one day last week.

Several families spent the week end at their summer homes on the river. Among them were Dr. Hess and family from Bay City.

Donald Nowlin is home from Detroit, the shop where he worked having gone on two days work a week.

Mrs. Mack Nowlin is spending some time at the home of her sister, Mrs. Addie Pearson of Richfield.

Farmers are busy planting potatoes and preparing fields for forage crops; as the prospect for hay and grain is very poor. Most of last year's seeding has winter killed.

A warm rain would be a very welcome visitor as the soil is very dry.

BUNDLE OF JOY

By ANNE CAMPBELL

MARILYN'S her name, but we have another we employ! It describes her perfectly! Bundle of Joy!

There are sacks of shining gold, There are silks of rarest dye, There are bundles, which unrolled, Capture the eye.

But a priceless tapestry Spread against the blue of day Does not mean as much to me As one clear ray

From a baby's azure eyes! With a glance both pure and coy She can bring me Paradise! Bundle of Joy!

(By Arthur Glidden, County Agricultural Agent)

We are all familiar with the comic cartoons depicting the farmers as a class who just sit and howl. No one knows better than the farmer that the sitting part of the cartoons at least is hokey.

But I have been wondering lately if there might not be some virtue in a sitting program for farmers after all. Prices are uncertain for farm produce even in normal times, and now—well everything is topsy-turvy—who knows but what potatoes might not be worth no more than a nickel a carload next fall and winter. It is certain that farmers are an optimistic lot to plant crops this year. But that is the only practical thing to do at that. The farmers can't quit and besides a quitter is always looked upon as a more or less contemptible person. Personally I would hate to ever have it said that yours truly had been responsible for creating disrespect for farmers.

With this introduction I would like to suggest a Sitting Program for farmers. Please keep in mind that this IS NOT a quitting program, it is instead a program that will give the farmers a chance to relax for once.

The first plank in the structure of this program would be for each and every farmer to produce as many of his family needs as possible. Consider the family first, make sure that there is a big garden with plenty of variety in it. Make plans now to produce all the feed that you will need for your stock. If your alfalfa has not winter killed you are lucky. Nearly everyone has lost some of their seedling, and to make up for that loss of feed plant some extra corn for fodder. Corn is the most certain of any emergency forage crop that you can plant. If by next fall you see that you are still short of feed sell off the surplus stock. Prices might be low but I am afraid that the surplus stock will be far too old to bring a good price if you wait until prices are high to sell them. This plank of the Sitting Program is not the plank to sit on, it is rather the plank to stand on.

The second plank of the Sitting Program. Think twice before you expend your acreage of the so-called cash crops. Instead of thinking in terms of acres of crops think in terms of PROFIT per acre. Plant what you can easily take care of without expending hard earned money for hard labor and equipment. Make every effort to produce crops as cheaply as possible with the minimum of investment. It is usually the case that a small acreage well cared for is more profitable than a larger acreage taken care of in a haphazard manner. In other words plant less and take better care of it.

It is true that this Sitting Program is no different than many of the programs of the AAA. It has been proposed and may require some changes before it is actually put into effect. It is also a program which is optional to each farmer, but I am convinced that it has its merits and I would be glad to talk it over in detail with any farmer at any time. I am also convinced that if such a program were carried out that there would be more farmers fishing this summer than there has been in the past, but I can not give information relative to the trout streams along with the rest of the program.

Land of Wooden Shoes at New Fair

Windmills, dikes, and canals of the Netherlands will be reproduced in this Dutch village of the new World's Fair, which opens in Chicago, May 28. It is one of fifteen "foreign villages" which will offer the visitor a "taste of the world" in a single day. The new Fair will have 84 miles of free exhibits: Music, fireworks, free public spectacles and free entertainment will be attractive features. Cost to visit will be less than that you pay when the average visitor spends only $1.17 a day inside the grounds. Chicago's beautiful June weather makes that month an opportune time to visit the entirely completed Fair.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

Thursday, June 1st, 1911

Attorney J. B. Ross of West Branch was in town last Friday on business, with court.

Mr. John Johnson and wife, came up from Lansing, and their daughter Helen from her school at Gaylord Saturday for a little visit.

About four hundred and fifty pupils of our school enjoyed almost a half holiday last Monday, with a sort of lawn fete and love feast under the shade of the trees on the school grounds.

Messrs D. E. and W. R. Matheson of the Rosecommon Herald, with Prof. Call, principal of the High school, and Messrs Harry McConkey, Burton Orcutt, H. J. DeWaele, E. A. Gaffney, Bert Ross and A. J. Price, all of that village drove up to "The only town on the map" in two cars Tuesday to see our boys walloping the Schems of Saginaw on the diamond, the second time this week. They seemed nearly as pleased as our own bunch with the result.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Chalker came down from Maple Forest for Decoration day and took a little time after to visit.

Mrs. W. Havens and family were made happy last Saturday by the arrival of her sister, Mrs. Nettie McKone and her daughter Edna from Cedar Springs for an extended visit in the "only town on the map."

Our base ball club taught the Schems of Saginaw how to play ball Monday and Tuesday the score being 4 to 2 and 5 to 4 in favor of Grayling. They were the only games lost by the Schems this year.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hanson, Mrs. Godfrey Jorgenson and her daughter will leave next Saturday morning for New York City, from where they will start June 6th across the "Pond" for Denmark, for a summer visit. They expect to be home about September 1st. Favorable winds and quiet waves are hoped for their passage.

Lovells Locals
(23 Years Ago)

Our weather for the past few days has been perfect. If the frost will only keep off, the farmers and gardeners will be satisfied.

Dr. Underhill is having a fine addition to his already pretty residence.

Mrs. Husted from West Branch is visiting her two daughters here.

T. E. Douglas is erecting a garage for his auto near the store where it will be easy to get at.

A. C. Ryburn finds it hard to manage his ranch as he has no one to take the place of J. V. Miller.

EXAMINATION FOR FREIGHT RATE CLERK

The United States Civil Service Commission will accept applications until June 4 for the position of Freight Rate Clerk.

The entrance salary is $2,300 a year, subject to a deduction of not to exceed 10 per cent until June 30, 1934, and of not to exceed 5 per cent during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, as a measure of economy, and also to a deduction of 3 1/2 percent toward a retirement annuity.

Applicants must have had within the ten years immediately preceding the closing date for receipt of applications at least five years of experience in positions in which the duties performed required them to become thoroughly conversant with the various railroad freight classifications, freight tariffs, circulars, rules of the Interstate Commerce Commission, etc., at least two years of which must have involved the distribution of earnings between carriers on through traffic.

CAPT. GEORGE POND and Lieut. Cesare Sabelli opened the ocean-flying season with an attempt to make a nonstop hop from New York to Rome—a thing that has never yet been done. They ran into dense fogs and head winds over the Atlantic and then had such serious engine trouble that they were forced to land their big Bellanca monoplane, the Leonardo da Vinci, on the west coast of Ireland. According to their stories, the aviators were mighty fortunate that they did not fall into the ocean and drown.

Red Crown Theatre At World's Fair

SEATS 2500. FOUR SHOWS DAILY

One of the largest structures to be seen this year at the World's Fair is that of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, to be known as the Red Crown Amphitheater. One of the largest amphitheatres on the grounds, it will seat 2,500 people comfortably.

The principal attraction under the Red Crown will be four free shows daily of one of the most daring wild animal acts ever staged. More than thirty lions and tigers and a few pumas enter a huge steel cage at one time.

Standing to greet them as the big cats rush into the arena from their individual cages is Allen King, the world's foremost animal trainer, the lone human in this roaring, snarling group of jungle terrors.

This courageous young man puts his collection of "live power" through an assortment of amazing tricks, the like of which have never been attempted by other wild animal trainers.

During intermissions between the lion and tiger shows, Miss Estrella Nelson, beautiful woman trainer, directs a group of elephants in an intricate and laughable series of maneuvers.

The Red Crown Amphitheatre is arranged in a semi-circle, and a full view of the stage and its trained cats can be enjoyed from every seat in the big auditorium. It is located on the east side of Leif Erickson Drive, across from the Travel and Transport Building in one of the most advantageous locations on the huge fair grounds.

PUBLIC OPINION AND THE BANKS

By F. N. SHEPHERD
Executive Manager American Bankers Association

WHILE banking today appears in a wholly distorted light to the eyes of some, the more reasoning elements in our population undoubtedly have a less jaundiced view than would appear from certain irresponsible orators, often posing as spokesmen for that indefinite quantity called "the mass" of our people.

F. N. SHEPHERD

Anti-social acts on the part of some bankers formerly have been the subject of spectacular exposures, but I can say without reservation that they were in no way typical of the acts and attitudes of the vast majority of their fellow bankers.

The public mind was shocked into the belief that these untypical instances were far more representative than they really were, and this belief has been encouraged by political and demagogic elements.

The bankers who are in charge of our banks today represent men who withstood the temptations and avoided the economic pitfalls of the great boom. If they had not they would not have been able to survive the rack and ruin of the economic hurricane by which even many banks and bankers, whose conduct was above reproach, have been destroyed.

The other types of bankers, those that fell below the high standards of professional ethics and business prudence that characterized those that remain, have passed out of the picture. But they have left for those that remain a difficult heritage of suspicion.

How irrational this is, when we reflect that not more than three or four per cent of our entire population suffered personal loss because of what any banker did or neglected to do, whereas literally millions of bank depositors did not lose a single cent as a result of banking difficulties and really owe a vote of confidence and thanks to their own bankers who were true to the highest conceptions of their stewardship and brought their institutions and their customers safely through the greatest business disaster the world has ever seen.

It has been a peculiar feature of the psychological distortion of the times that many who owe nothing but gratitude to their bankers joined in blaming the banker far out of proportion with rational consideration of the facts.

EXAMINATIONS FOR TRUST INSTITUTIONS

New Move by Federal Banking Authorities Welcomed by Banks and Trust Companies, Says Bankers' Organization

FEDERAL examination of trust departments is the latest development in banking supervision and trust companies and banks operating trust departments are welcoming this development because it fills a long-felt want. It is stated by the Trust Division of the American Bankers Association.

Despite the growing importance of American trust business in recent years examining officials have never given to trust departments the attention paid to commercial banking departments, this authority points out. Now the Federal Reserve System, in conjunction with the Comptroller of the Currency, has undertaken to bring the examination of trust departments up to the level of commercial bank examinations, it says.

Experts in trust work are being employed by the various Federal Reserve Banks. These experts will head the special staffs of trust examiners in the twelve Federal Reserve Districts. Special staffs are already at work in some of the Reserve Districts, including Boston, Atlanta, Richmond and Chicago. The Federal Reserve will examine the trust departments of state-chartered members of the system.

Uniform Supervision. Meanwhile, the Comptroller of the Currency has built up over the past two years a staff of special examiners for the trust departments of national banks. All national banks are members of the Federal Reserve System. Since nearly all state-chartered trust institutions are members the new plan will bring about what amounts to Federal examination for the trust business.

State examining authorities probably will follow Federal supervisory policies to a considerable extent. Hence, coordination of the procedure of the national banking system and the Federal Reserve System is expected to result in a uniform system of examinations for trust departments in all banks. This in turn should produce considerable standardization in the operation of trust departments.

Capt. Vane came here last winter and had a very busy time, much of which was spent in the work of recruiting. Capt. Vane is friendly and fine to know and we are exceedingly sorry that he must leave. The officers of the district gave him a farewell banquet at Johnson's Rustic Tavern, at Houghton Lake Tuesday night. And at that time welcomed their new commander—Capt. Betts. The latter, who stands 6 feet and 4 inches in his stockings, met some of our citizens Tuesday. We trust that he will enjoy his work among the people of this district.

His car coasted down the hill crossing the road and was headed for an electric light pole. Phyllis and Patricia Montour playing near by seeing it thought they could prevent it from striking the pole, so Patricia took hold of the rear of the car trying to pull it back and Phyllis got in front of it, and as it landed against the pole it caught her hand. Jerking back after the impact it knocked Patricia down but she was unhurt.

Mr. May came out of the house just in time to see the accident, and immediately took the injured girl to Mercy hospital where she had her hand dressed. Phyllis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Morris.

Farmers Get Loans For Purchasing Stock

The services of the production credit association in making loans in Crawford County to purchase horses, cattle and other livestock may be increased considerably in the near future, according to a plan announced by Rufus C. Ward, Secretary-Treasurer of the association.

The new arrangement makes it possible for a farmer or livestock man to purchase horses or livestock and give a bill of sale on the animals purchased as part of the security for the loan. The application for the loan is made to the association in the usual way and the applicant's farm property is inspected by the loan inspector of the association. If found satisfactory to the association and the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Paul, the farmer is supplied with a letter of credit and a blank draft for each animal or lot of livestock to be purchased. On the back of the draft is printed a bill of sale in favor of the association. The farmer or stockman may then purchase the desired stock, having the bill of sale executed before the draft to pay for the animals is issued.

"The new arrangement," said Mr. Card, "will enable the association to make loans on a business basis to farmers and livestock men who have a part of the security for a loan since they will now be able to purchase needed animals and put up the stock purchased as additional security. Many farmers in this section who need work animals, dairy cattle and other livestock should be able to use this type of loan with success. The association is trying to extend the maximum service to borrowers, mindful that it is established for farmers who need credit but only for those who wish to do business on a sound basis and repay their debts."

House Committee Votes to Impeach Judge Woodward; Troops Suppress Labor Riots in Two States; Chicago's Fair Reopened.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

© by Western Newspaper Union.

FIFTEEN of twenty members of the house committee on judiciary voted for impeachment action against Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward of Chicago, and it was announced that formal charges against him would be drawn up and presented on the floor of the house within a few days. The house must then decide the matter of impeachment and if it finds the charges substantiated the jurist will be tried at the bar of the senate.

According to reports in Washington, a major charge against Judge Woodward, this being based on evidence showing he appointed the law firm of Loucks, Eckert & Peterson to many lucrative attorneyships in bankruptcy and equity receivership cases; that his son, Harold, was employed by this firm, and that Harold's compensation was raised from $2,000 to $13,000 a year soon after Judge Woodward began making those appointments.

The vote in the committee was nonpartisan. Three members were absent. Eleven Democrats and four Republicans voted for impeachment. Of the five casting their ballots against impeachment four were Republicans, one was a Democrat.

LABOR troubles became so serious that state troops were mobilized in Minneapolis and in Toledo, Ohio, and despite the presence of soldiers there was a great deal of rioting and violence. In Minneapolis the striking teamsters and building tradesmen rejected an order of the regional labor board to end the strike immediately, and insisted on fighting to a finish. The employers had accepted the labor board's terms. Governor Olson had brought 3,700 men of the National Guard to the city. In the midst of the disorder on the streets, Congressman Francis H. Shoemaker was arrested for inciting violence and was found guilty, being given the choice of ten days in the workhouse or a $50 fine.

Toledo's battle centered about the plant of the Electric Auto-Lite company in which 1,800 non-striking employees had been besieged for fifteen hours by a great mob of riotous strikers and frequently fired upon by snipers on the roofs of nearby buildings. The windows of the plant were all broken by stones, and torches thrown through them started many fires. The police used tear gas bombs but were roughly handled by the mobs, so six companies of state troops were called out and they, marching with fixed bayonets, scattered the strikers and released the imprisoned employees.

Later the strikers and their friends gathered again and fought furiously with the troops, showering them with bricks and paving stones. Dozens of soldiers were injured and finally the exasperated guardsmen fired on the mobs, two rioters being killed and many wounded. Tear gas and the more powerful "knockout" gas were freely used by both sides.

Charles P. Taft, son of the late President, was sent from Washington to Toledo as special mediator for the national labor board of the NRA.

SENATOR ROBINSON, majority leader, heard rumors that some senators were planning a filibuster for the purpose of killing the administration's tariff bargaining bill. He said he was ready to squelch any such scheme by prolonging the daily sessions of the senate. "If that is the intention we will meet at 10 a. m. and stay until 9 p. m.," he said. "And if that doesn't work, we'll come here at 9 a. m. and stay till the same hour in the evening."

Minority Leader McNary said "none of the fellows" on the Republican side was involved in the embryonic filibuster. He declared they were ready to vote as soon as general debate ended.

The house, after two days of work, passed the administration's industry loan bill and sent it back to the senate. The senate has approved a bill fixing the maximum total RFC five-year loans at $250,000,000 and limiting the amount the twelve federal reserve banks could advance to $250,000,000.

But the house discarded the senate provisions and inserted its own, which increased the RFC total to $500,000,000 and cut the reserve bank maximum to $150,000,000. The differences were to be adjusted in conference.

CLARENCE DARROW'S report on the NRA, submitted some time ago to President Roosevelt, has been made public, and in the main it was just what was expected from the Chicago lawyer and his colleagues. It analyzed eight of the more important codes and found that seven of them foster monopolies, help big business and do a lot toward putting small concerns out of business. These seven codes are: Electrical manufacturing, foot wear division, rubber manufacturing, motion pictures, retail solid fuel, steel, ice, and bituminous coal. The report found no monopolistic features in the cleaners and dyers' code.

Administrator Johnson and his chief counsel, Donald H. Richberg, had been given the report, previously for the purpose of composing a reply to it. This they did, to the extent of 50,000 vigorous words. They answered all the Darrow charges and asserted the report was "superficial," "intemperate," "inaccurate," "prejudiced," "one-sided," "inconsistent," "donsensical," "insupportable," "false," and "anarchistic."

Darrow came back with a caustic answer that drew further violent language from the NRA chiefs, and the battle then became general. Senator Gerald P. Nye, Republican, of North Dakota, a supporter of Darrow's views, spoke for hours in the senate, demanding that congress stay in session until the existing "abuses" are corrected.

Next came a bitter attack from organized labor, asserting that the Darrow board's report was "a disservice to the nation and its citizens in a time of great economic stress."

A row broke out in the Darrow group that left several members not on speaking terms with one another. William O. Thompson, a member of the board, accused Lowell Mason, the board's counsel, of tampering with the records.

PAT HURLEY, former secretary of war, appeared before the senate civil service committee in a warlike mood and angrily demanded that there be a full examination of charges that he was party to a patronage plot hatched by Republicans at his home in Virginia. He declared that it should be determined whether the Department of Justice is out to smear all members of the preceding administration or whether A. V. Dalmryple, the special assistant attorney general who made the charges, is "just an irresponsible falsifier in charge of the wooden pistol section of the Department of Justice."

Mr. Hurley bitterly criticized the department for permitting one of its officials, Webster Spates, to read to the committee an anonymous, hitherto confidential report entitled "The New Deal with the same old dealers." The report declared "the same old gang of standpat Republicans are gatekeepers to the patronage pastures."

Mr. Dalmryple read to the committee the letters from C. W. Broom and Lee Shannon, who told the justice department assistant that persons whom they declined to name had informed them of the meeting at Hurley's home, where prominent Republicans were alleged to have planned how they could hold on to patronage jobs despite the change in administration. Dalmryple denied that he had made the charges himself.

CHICAGO'S exposition, A Century of Progress, was reopened for another summer with a big military parade and much ceremony. The fair has been reconstructed and redecorated and is a bigger and better exposition this year than the one that called forth so much enthusiastic praise in 1933. The best of the former exhibits and features have been retained, but many new ones have been added and everything has been brought up to date. There are 12 new foreign villages for the education and amusement of visitors; the Chicago and Detroit symphony orchestras will give long series of free concerts; the scientific and manufacturers' exhibits have been vastly improved and enlarged; the "Midway," bettered in various ways, has been moved to the lake front of the island; and the entire exposition is resplendent with new colors and new lighting.

This College for Girls Has a Bar!

IT SOUNDS startling to say that a girl student can amble right up to a bar in her college and order a drink. However, this new bar in Barnard college, New York City, serves only milk, which the girls buy for three cents a drink.
